—The city council met in accordance with adjournment on Monday evening, but owing to a lack of a quorum, another adjournment was had until next Monday evening, at which time it is expected the assessor question will be settled, and other matters of importance will be brought up.
—A telegram was received yesterday from Mrs. Carpenter, who claims to be a wife of the man now charged with bigamy, and is on her way here from Virginia to appear against him. It appears that she, too, has relatives in this part of the country. Mr. Forman, of Honey Creek township, being her uncle.
—The Nostrum Puffer, who was drowned by the Macons in Lake Erie, and whose ghost still meanders in this vicinity, is out with a jermadea objecting to the acquisition of business houses or business men, provided they hail from Omaha. Surely such brilliant writers are the life of a city. Where will the world be when the twinkler winks out.
—Of all the sneaks the sneakiest sneak is the one who sneaks his neighbor's morning paper. There have been several complaints of late of this petty thievery, and one party has been seen. THE BEE purposes to help stop this despicable practice by at least publishing the names of such persons, and it is expected that one or more arrests will be made in a few days, which will probably have a reformatory tendency.
—There was one excited individual dancing about police headquarters yesterday morning. He had come to Council Bluffs to see the sights, and after depositing $2,000 of his wealth in a bank, kept $400 in his pocket and started on the rounds. On waking up yesterday morning he found most of it gone and concluded that he had been robbed. He found, however, that he had handed it over to a friend to keep till morning and had forgotten it.

—The delay in the arrival of the Chicago & Northwestern trains for a few days past has been owing to the accident to the bridge over the Des Moines river between Boone and Moline, the same bridge that immortalized Kate Shelby, who saved a passenger train from death and destruction there. The last accident consisted of the given away of the central span while a loaded freight train was passing over, and sixteen cars were unceremoniously dumped into the river. The loss will foot up $10,000, but unfortunately no one was injured. While the repairs are being made, the trains run from Grand Junction to Gower and there strike the Toledo branch of the Northwestern, which strikes the main line again at Tama. This has made the trains a little tardy in reaching here.

STEALING STEEDS.
The Thief Captured and Safely Lodged in Jail.

A German, who claims Omaha for his home and Gustave Bretschneider for his name, was yesterday lodged in jail here on the charge of horse stealing. He had for some time been at work for a farmer in Monona county, and having some difficulty with his employer, was discharged and returned to his home in Omaha. Last week he returned to Monona county, and watching his opportunity, stole the farmer's team, as he claims merely for spite, or to get even financially with his employer, but as circumstances indicate, with the intention of selling the horses and pocketing the cash. It is claimed that he drove the team about twenty miles, and then tried to sell them, but failing to find a customer he put them in a lively stable, and instructed the proprietor to sell the team for $199, if he could, and forward the money to him at Omaha. He then took the train for home, but was overtaken, arrested on the cars, and after having a preliminary examination, was held for trial, and brought to the county jail here for safe-keeping.

When you want to get a present that will completely settle the business and forever captivate the heart of the receiver, just take a turn around the block and call at Bliss'.

About the neatest thing in the way of a holiday gift, provided you have a home that is worthy of them, is a parlor chandelier or hall lamp of the latest style and with the new and novel lowering apparatus. There is no doubt but that such a gift would delight your wife and all the family, and yourself, too. Call at the Gas company's office and get one before you forget it.

Jacob Rosecrans, who has been visiting his cousin, Constable Rosecrans, for a few days past, returned last evening to his home in Garden Prairie, Ill., where he is engaged in too thriving a business to make it advisable for him to move west, otherwise he would come to Council Bluffs, as he was charmed with the city and its people.

HELPING THE HELPLESS.

Another Case of Destitution Which is Being Looked After Promptly.

Yesterday another case of destitution commanded attention, it being a family the father and mother of which are both sick in bed and hence unable to do anything to keep the wolf from the door. There are two children, and they were yesterday found to be in sad need of clothes, while the home itself was very scantily furnished and lacking most of the usual comforts. Steps were at once taken to relieve their wants and supply them with the needful.

There are two erroneous ideas, which may be gaining ground, and certainly ought to be corrected wherever found to exist. One of these is the idea with which some may be impressed that Council Bluffs has more than its share of poor. One might easily gain this idea from the prominence given by the press to the charity and help being given. This prominence has been given because there are many here who are warm-heartedly interested in these matters, in feeling and in pocketbook, and who want to know what is going on. It has also been prominently brought before the public to incite an interest in the needy are careless and lukewarm about it.

The frequency and prominence of such matters is, therefore, no indication that Council Bluffs is a city of much pauperism. In fact, the reverse is the case.

There are few in proportion who need help, but a small proportion out of over 20,000 inhabitants furnished abundant opportunity for the proper bestowal of charity.

The second erroneous notion which may have spread somewhat, is that contributions are being carelessly distributed. There is no cause for such a feeling. There is no cause for such a feeling. The contributions which have been placed in Rev. Mr. Lomen's have been very carefully distributed. He has given to no one without first carefully looking up the actual facts, needs and worthiness. There have been fifteen families thus aided, and the one yesterday makes sixteen. Of these there have been only five men, and every one of these completely disabled, and not capable of earning a cent. The others have been widows and children.

It is desirable that any who have employment to give of any kind should make the same known, as there are several to whom a chance to work would be a greater charity than money, as it would give them a needed chance to help themselves.

A plan has been suggested which seems a practical one, that those who have on hand any material out of which rag carpets can be made, should contribute such, and some of the girls in the needy families can be given employment in preparing the same for rag carpets, to cover the bare floors, and in case of a surplus, to sell for the benefit of the fund. Such help would be little felt, and would be gratefully received.

AN UGLY CUSTOMER.
Officer Edgar Fires at Him Three Times Before Capturing Him.

Yesterday afternoon a young man giving his name as John Dillon, probably an alias, raised a row at Nick Bachus' place, and was apparently bound to clean out the bar and the barkeeper. Two other young men in the saloon at the time taking a drink, sought to interfere, as they say, to get the belligerent out of doors, but as the bartender at the time thought, to take his part. The result was a lively matinee, though a brief one. The police, on reaching the spot, found quiet restored, and the parties had started off. Officer Edgar and Morse kept after Dillon and gave him quite a chase from the Milwaukee St. Paul depot down the track. He would not halt, and Officer Edgar, after calling to him several times, proceeded to fire. He blazed away three times, aiming high enough to skip him, and the fellow then halted and was captured. The two others who were supposed to be concerned in the affair were more quietly arrested and all three were brought into the police station. On the way thither the fellow calling himself Dillon was very abusive and ugly and made much resistance on being searched, but was safely landed in the back room to meditate. One of the others, giving the name of Charles Smith, was released at once, inquiry of the bartender showing that he had very little hand in the row. The other, giving the name of Atkins, gave $10 cash for his appearance this morning.

The Council Bluffs headquarters for butter, eggs and poultry and the leading wholesale depot for fruit is the well known house of J. M. St. John & Co. The Omaha trade of this firm is quite large, and the people of this city have long since found it to their advantage to get their goods in the produce line from this square-dealing and enterprising firm, of 316 Broadway.

The District Court.

Most of yesterday, in the district court, was taken up by the trial of the case of Watson vs the Wabash railway company, in which plaintiff seeks to recover damages for the loss of a foot, caused by alleged carelessness of the company's employees in switching, while plaintiff was unloading a car of lumber standing on a side track. The case was given to the jury late yesterday afternoon.

A start was made in the trial of the case of Vanner vs Kampf, in which the plaintiff seeks to recover damages for personal injuries received by an alleged assault at Avoca last summer. On the other side it is claimed that the injuries were slight, and were received by his falling down some steps while drunk. This case will probably be finished to-day.

The grand jury has returned bills against John Garbick and John C. Wood for larceny and against George C. Wood for seduction. The grand jury will probably complete its work this week.

Max Mohr has two dozen fat geese for sale. Have fat roast geese for Christmas, and don't you forget it.

CHRISTMAS GOODS.

RARE MUSIC.
The First of the Trio of Piano Recitals by Miss Harris.

Last evening was the first of the series of piano recitals by Miss Lydia S. Harris, of Chicago, and it drew to Mueller's hall a fair sized audience, and one which was composed of the real music lovers of the city, who could and who did appreciate the classic numbers, and the truly artistic manner in which they were rendered. Those who knew Miss Harris, when she was connected with Mrs. Ford's conservatory of music here, were delighted at the evident progress she has made since then, while those who heard her for the first time were wonderfully surprised, her renditions exceeding their expectations even. She showed the spirit of the true artist, indeed, and her opening recital fully justified the high commendations which preceded her coming.

Tomorrow evening will be the second of the series, and Saturday night will be the closing.

FANS.
Harkness, Orcutt & Co. have an elegant assortment of white and colored fans.

A Word of Caution.
Railroad men, mechanics, commercial travelers, base ballers, farmers, and others who labor out of doors, are particularly liable to accident and injury. Thomas' Electric Oil for bruises, burns, bites and sprains, is one of the finest applications yet devised.

The noblest thing in the cigar line is a patent cigar box, which is a perfect imitation of a large box. The inscription in gilt lettering on the back is, "Dr. Quack's Medical Works." The volume closes with a brass catch and is a canvas binding. The interior shows a double box of cigars, 50 in a box, and a sweeter smoke is hard to find than those cigars furnished. For a smoker, they are the nearest Christmas present imaginable, and for the entire business is only $3.00. F. R. Levin, 308 Broadway, is the only man in town that can have them, as the box is patented. Levin's factory is a splendid place to get cigar holders, fine pipes and all kinds of smokers' goods.

When you feel out of sorts, have the blues, melancholy, etc., it must be indigestion that ails you. Brown's Iron Bitters cure it.

Mrs. Minnie Michelleu.

It was expected that the Min-Burleigh dramatic company would present Hamlet in Council Bluffs to-morrow evening, but it was found impossible for them to do so without losing a day.

They who are disappointed in not seeing Mr. Miln will be glad to learn that arrangements have been made for a special train to and from Omaha to-night to accommodate those who wish to see Mr. Miln in Richelieu, which the Kansas City papers declare to be better than his Hamlet.

COMMERCIAL.

There appears to be a good profit in shipping corn to Liverpool. 20 corn, f. o. b. in Chicago is 57½, which with freight and insurance of 19½ makes the cost to lay down a bushel of corn in Liverpool, 87½. The Liverpool price is 7s 2½, which is equivalent to 98½, and at this figure there would be a profit on shipment of 11½ per bushel.
